

Welcome To Orithia

Melody: Rowland Huw Pritchard "Hyfrydol" 1820

Words: Warren Mars 2018

Arrangement trad slightly modified by Warren Mars

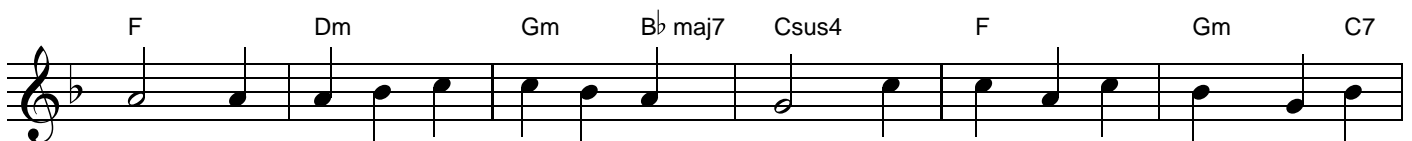

1. Wel - come child un - to O - ri - thi - a; wel - come to your
 2. Wel - come child to Earth, our pla - net or - bit - ting Sol, our
 3. Wel - come child to a world of a - ni - mals: mo - bile life - forms of 4. Wel - come child to a world of veg' - ta - bles: sta - tion - 'ry life - forms that
 5. Wel - come child to the human so - ci - e - ty, realm where most of your brand new life. A - no - ther Sho - ku of four di - men - sions, three of G - 2 - V star. A ball of si - li - cate rocks in com - pres - sion sur - roun - ding a which you are one. They all must eat o - ther life to sur - vive, it may seem co - ver the world. They can cre - ate their own form of nu - tri - tion; by har - ves - ting life will be spent. Much de - pends on the good - will of o - thers, which may, at space and one of time. Here you live a - gain con - nec - ted to li - quid i - ron core. Out on the crust there are ligh - ter mo - le - cules, cruel but that is our way. Some eat veg' - ta - bles, some eat a - ni - mals, light from our fa - ther the Sun. Yes, they are ea - ten and used to make hou - ses by times, be cruel and un - fair. Still we will do our best to be plea - sant and Velas in all its en - ti - re - ty. This life is diff' rent but li - quid wa - ter and fine - ly ground sand, a brea - tha - ble ni - tro - gen some eat fun - gi, bac - te - ri - a too. All are our friends as they us and all of our a - ni - mal friends. With - out them we can't live so decent and fair in our dea - lings with you. Do un - to us as we still some - how si - mi - lar: a new per - spec - tive on all you can be.

 ox - y - gen at - mos - phere, sea - sons, days and a glo - ri - ous moon.
 grew up be - side us, be sure you re - spect them in all that you do. keep them a - bun - dant, di - verse, dis - tri - bu - ted, heal - thy and free.
 do un - to you and the Church will sup - port you for all of your days.